

ACCESSIBILITY en

General information

- In the Queerfeminist Room you can only pay with cash. There is no pressure to consume.
- There is an unattended wardrobe at site. We do not accept liability for items in the wardrobe.

Spatial accessibility

- The room is accessible to people in wheelchairs but not barrier-free. The stairlift that leads to the room can only be reached across a cobblestone path. The stairlift has a payload of 250 KG. It cannot be operated by Eurokey, but only with the support of the staff. At the entrance door of the room there is a threshold where a small ramp can be installed.
- The wheelchair toilet is rather small (160x125 cm) and the door is 80 cm wide. The toilet has a hinged support rail on the left side. To lock the toilet cubicle from the inside, a small latch must be operated with fine motor skills.
- The room is not equipped with a changing table. There is a low chest of drawers in the toilet facilities which can be used as a changing table. Changing nappies is also allowed everywhere else in the Queerfeminist Room.
- The height of the bar is 117 cm and it does not have a recessed access at seat height. However, it is open on the sides, where people can also be served at a lower height.
- The stage is elevated and can be accessed via a mobile ramp. The ramp is 85 cm wide and has an inclination of 22%.
- In case of evacuation, the escape route is not wheelchair accessible and there is no fireproof room within reach.

Sensory stimuli

- Depending on the event, there will be music and varied lighting.
- Depending on the event, strobe lights and haze will be used.
- Earplugs can be requested at the bar at any time free of charge. There are also three pairs of earmuffs, one of which is a child's size, and one pair of noise-cancelling headphones that can be borrowed.
- There is a room with reduced sensory stimuli, which is usually not freely accessible. The organisers of the event can open the room on request.

Accessibility for blind and visually impaired people

- The drinks menu can be requested in Braille.
- Depending on the event, there will be occasional auditory guidance in the form of announcements or moderation.
